

One D&D Nyxad and Racial Subclasses playtest

Nyxad Race for One DND

Typical Stats: Almost all Nyxads favor Dexterity, with a decent sprinkling of Intelligence, Wisdom, or Charisma as a secondary. A rare few Nyxads tend to favor Constitution and almost none favor Strength. All Nyxads are Stealthy and Perceptive, and they usually learn skills or tools of practical use to their chosen lifestyle. Common choices tend to be Performance to represent their artistic side, Insight for demonstrating social agility, Survival because they are in training to become Shadowdancers, or Investigation because they like learning new facts.

if playing without Tashas Rules for Ability scores, use the following, +2 to Dexterity and +1 to the player's choice of Intelligence, Wisdom or Charisma. Slight Build: Nyxads are Medium Humanoids, though they can maneuver through tight or cramped spaces if one size smaller than they currently are, occupying those spaces without penalty, Fast Speed: Nyxads have a Land Speed of 40 feet. Individual Nyxads tend to favor Reactions over Movement Speed, though some Nyxads have both.

Keen Senses: A Nyxad is Proficient in the Perception Skill; her body is one small mess of sensitive nerve clusters. When using her senses, she gets more precise details than members of most humanoid races.

Shadow Blending: A Nyxad is Proficient in the Stealth Skill, and furthermore may attempt to hide in Dim Light or Darkness even without being obscured, even from creatures with Darkvision or Devil's Sight. However, because she needs Dim Light/Darkness to hide in, a lit Torch or Lantern can easily reveal her location if properly aimed.

Darkvision: A Nyxad has Darkvision, allowing her to treat Dim Light as Bright Light and see in 60 feet of Darkness as if it were Dim Light. But unlike most creatures with Darkvision, she retains the ability to see colors.

Youthful Vigor: A Nyxad may take a Long Rest in 4 hours instead of 8 but sleeps normally when doing so. In addition, all Nyxads are immune to all aging effects (other than naturally maturing into adulthood), and their lifespans have no innate upper limit, Nyxads have a lack of Commoners, much like Elves and Kobolds. Instead, the majority of NPC Nyxads tend to be Experts or other Skill-focused Classes. Sometimes, you might get a Nyxad of the Mage or Priest variety, though their Barbarians are living on borrowed time, given their physical stature.
